

Hearing Aid First Aid

Many normally hearing people who know or care for someone who wears a hearing aid are unaware of how much they can do to help keep the aid working at its best. Hearing aid users rely on their aids to communicate with people around them. The hearing aid cannot keep itself clean or tell you when it needs attention. In other words... HEARING AIDS NEED HELP!

The Connevens Hearing Aid Care Kit is ideal for parents or someone who cares for a hearing aid wearer. The kit is supplied in a handy pouch and comes with our indispensable guide to the day-to-day care and maintenance of hearing aids.

Stetoclip hearing aid listeners

A stetoclip hearing aid listener allows a normally hearing person to monitor the performance of a hearing aid. Regular use helps the tester to recognise a reduction in sound quality and therefore start solving any problems.

Connevens supply stetoclip listeners with a variable 'roller' attenuator.

In addition, the tubing includes a damper which gives a minimum attenuation (approx 10dB) as a precaution.

Attenuators have been available in various forms for many years. The introduction of digital hearing aids, many of which do not have a full volume control, makes the use of the Connevens variable attenuator particularly effective.

Connevens would like to acknowledge the help and motivation of the Ewing Foundation for the introduction of the variable attenuator.

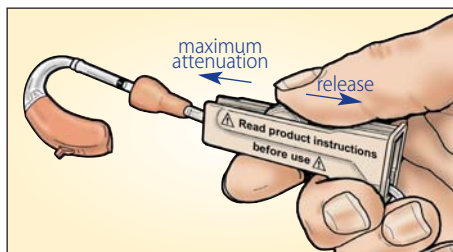

Stetoclip listener, variable attenuator & earmould listening cup

★★★ KIT

The standard stetoclip which Connevens supply is the type with foam ends because we find these the most comfortable.

Variable 'roller' attenuator allows smooth adjustment of listening volume. Always initially set to full attenuation before turning on the hearing aid.

Tubing includes a damper which gives a minimum attenuation (approx 10dB) as a precaution.

Listening through earmould using cup end.

Listening directly via earhook.

Because hearing aids are worn on the body, they absorb moisture internally which can cause corrosion or other damage to the electrical components. Drying the hearing aid out overnight will improve its reliability and help ensure satisfactory operation and extended life – budget to replace capsules monthly.

Regular use can actually help to reduce repairs – manufacturers report that perhaps half of the hearing aids they receive for repair are malfunctioning due to moisture or earwax. Other benefits are reduced instances of fuzzy or distorted sound and prolonged battery life.

All sets are suitable for earmoulds and tubes as well as hearing aids.

The Global Dry & Store II is the top of the range – ideal for professionals or simply for those wanting to keep their hearing aids in peak condition.

The Zephyr is great for domestic use, featuring the excellent drying capabilities of the Dry & Store, without the expensive germicidal UV lamp.

The Dry Cap Tub Set, Phonak drying beaker and Phonak drying bag on the following page are ideal for use mainly at home (as aids can rattle around when carried), or for those who need something easy to open and use.

The Dry Cap bag is an ideal inexpensive disposable option but is probably only suitable for one 'post aural' aid and earmould or two 'in the ear' aids as the pouch is fairly small.

Global Dry & Store II ★★★

More than just a very effective drying box, the Dry & Store II also dries earwax, kills germs and deodorises.

The Dry & Store II uses special germicidal UV lamps – short wave, low pressure, mercury vapour tubes – which kill micro-organisms such as virus, bacteria and mould spores overnight while you sleep. The germicidal action also results in fewer itchy ears!

⚠ Comes with 1 Dry-Brik II tablet, power supply and 1m lead.

Dry & Store II box: 180mm x 130mm x 90mm.

Dry-Brik II tablet: 76 x 41 x 15mm should last 2 months.

Zephyr drying box

Zephyr is the junior member of the Dry & Store family – removes damaging moisture accumulation, dries earwax, and deodorizes your hearing instruments.

Zephyr operates on an 8-hour cycle, and utilises warm, moving air and a Dry-Brik II desiccant – proven technology for maximum drying effectiveness.

A ball-bearing fan continuously circulates warm, dry air for the entire operating cycle, causing moisture to move out of the hearing instruments by diffusion.

Zephyr does not include the germicidal UV lamp of the Dry & Store, but it does have the same renowned drying and deodorizing benefit.

Suitable for use with all types of hearing instrument. The compact size and light weight of the Zephyr, make it easily portable and ideal for use at home. We recommend drying out your hearing instrument daily.

Zephyr box: 150mm x 92mm x 72mm. ⚠ Comes with 1 x Dry-Brik II tablet, power supply and 1m lead.

Dry-Brik II tablet: 76 x 41 x 15mm should last 2 months.

Hand sanitiser products are a simple and most effective way of reducing the threat of acquired infection from germs transferred directly by the hands.

Connevens offer a selection of hand hygiene products which remove the need to make a special journey to a sink or bathroom between each 'patient' contact.

The Purell sanitiser is fragrance free and pleasant to use for both clinic and domestic use.

Purell hand sanitiser

Containing a quick-acting anti-microbial agent, Purell kills 99.99% of the most common illness-causing germs in as little as 15 seconds. With added moisturisers, Purell is also kind to the skin, helping to replace natural oils, stripped away as a result of frequent hand washing.

For anyone who has more than a few earmoulds to clean – also for tubes, earmould adaptors, stetoclips etc. Earmoulds are ideally suited for being ultrasonically cleaned because you have to admit they can get fairly 'nasty'! This is a professional cleaning system which can be a real time saver and keep hearing equipment performing at optimum levels.

Ultrasonic cleaning flushes out dirt in small parts in a way that ordinary cleaning methods cannot do. Ultrasonic cleaning is widely used in many fields of industry both in manufacture and service. Since the use of solvents has had to be restricted for environmental reasons, ultrasonic cleaning and aqueous cleaning fluids offer themselves as one of the safest and best alternatives.

What is needed?

Apart from the ultrasonic bath (supplied with lid and basket), you need a diluted liquid cleaning agent. Our cleaning fluid is a biodegradable non foaming detergent specifically developed for the rapid and efficient cleaning of surgical instruments and medical equipment and perfect for cleaning earmoulds.
